Subject: This Morning's Stench from the Evanston Waste Transfer Station

This morning, at about 10:20 a.m. as I was leaving my home and driving west on Church St. (to go to the grocery store), with my car window open, I could smell a foul stench emanating from the Veolia/Onyx Waste Transfer Station on Church St.

On my return home, about 10:55 a.m., after I put my car in the garage, I walked outside, and, unfortunately, the stench was permeating my neighborhood.

And, I'm suffering from allergies or a cold, so I know my olfactory senses are dulled today.
