Artwork by Harold Bauer

After a 50 year career of conducting symphony and opera in the United States and Europe, Harold Bauer shifted his focus from music to his life long interest in painting. He has studied with a number of the country's leading watercolorists, and more recently has worked in oil painting with several of the excellent faculty members at the Evanston Art Center, where he is also a board member and past president.

His works can be found in numerous private collections.

A portion of each piece of artwork sold is donated to OTR's Resident Service Program to increase the quality of life and independence of our residents
